CANADA AIDS MOTHER COUNTRY IN FIGHT AGAINST CRUELTY AND AGGRESSION

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 10TH PRIME MINISTER MACKENZIE KING DECLARED CANADA IS IN A STATE OF WAR AGAINST GERMANY

PRIME MINISTER MACKENZIE KING

The situation confronting the people of the Dominion was plainly expressed by the prime minister and the leader of the opposition in the House of Commons. Mr. Mackenzie King said: "We have full faith in the readiness of Canadian men and women to go forth every effort in their power to preserve and defend free institutions, and in particular to resist aggression on the part of a tyrannical regime which aims at the domination of the world by force."

DR. R. J. MANION

"This was in for the preservation of human liberty," said Dr. Manion. "The humanism is international gangsterism. If Hitler wins this war it may be the end of civilization as we know it. Hitler has been known to commit murder to attain his ends. He holds nothing sacred."

Rhodes Scholars Ordered To Quit England

Owing to the war, Rhodes Scholars, now in England have been asked to return home.

Word received from Mr. Jack Garrett who has been at Oxford to the past few years, states that he will be returning home via the United States. The date of this sailing however is not yet known.

COMING EVENTS

Saturday, Sept. 23rd—Keep the date clear to go to the Tea, given under auspices of the United Church Sunday School in the King Edward Sample Room.

MARITIMERS AS FINANCIERS

Sir Alexander Galt, a Englishman, Sir John Rose, a Scot, and Sir Francis Hynes an Irishman, were Canada's first three finance ministers. But it is the Maritimers which have made a record in connection with the finance portfolio. Sir Leonard Tilley, Hon. A. W. McMillan, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir George E. Foster, Hon. W. R. Fielding, Hon. Edgar N. Rhodes, Rt. Hon. H. B. Bennett and now Col. Stinson, all natives or residents of the provinces along the sea, have been finance ministers—eight out of the sixteen since Confederation. And the 1918 budget speech was delivered by another Maritimer, Hon. A. C. MacLean, acting minister of finance in Sir Thom as White's absence.

Col. Stinson, like his boyhood friend Hon. E. N. Rhodes, is a Baptist. Of the last ten holders of the finance portfolio, five have belonged to this comparatively small denomination: Sir Charles Tupper (a Baptist minister's son), Sir George Foster, Hon. W. R. Fielding, Hon. E. N. Rhodes and Hon. J. L. Balfour, while a sixth Mr. Bennett (United Church), was brought up a Baptist. The denomination is strong in the Maritime provinces, from which all these men have come.

At a very well attended meeting of the Strathmore Branch of the Canadian Legion held Tuesday a resolution was unanimously passed and forwarded through the Alberta Command to the Dominion Government.

Many other branches of the Legion have taken the same action and this is the avowed policy of the Canadian Legion throughout Canada.

BRITISH CLIMATE AND BRITISH PEOPLE

In Great Britain's struggle to survive as a great power, its one great asset is its climate, writes Mary H. Brown of the United States. "What will win a war of the future? Ships, submarines, airplanes—or the men who man them? Will the land that has reared the best horses and cattle and the dearest crowd of men in Christendom fall low because machines have it all their own way? I doubt it! I think that no country can have a great navy or army that does not breed tough, elastic, brave men."

"But I am not interested in military or naval supremacy. I think that Great Britain could be beaten in half a dozen wars and yet remain in no sense the greatest power in the world. It is just stupid enough, just slow enough, just languid enough to survive for many generations as a power for sanity and temperance. Its obstinate, invincible unity I attribute entirely to character."

"The truth is that the English climate is the best in the world because it is just depressing enough and though beauty, not too beauty, and it does two things to human nature. It puts the brakes on nervous energy but gently wakes up the senses and sends the blood coursing through the veins just as it sends the juices of plants running rich in their. Under its influence, life is vigorous to the bursting point. Blood, the best in the earth, is the result. For horse breeding and the breeding of cattle, pigs and men, there is no country like England."

Indeed, in answer, I am informed, the strains of horses and cattle have to be re-enforced every third generation. It is the climate and the rich, drenched soil that are responsible for the life develops slowly and with serenity in these islands. Protected by the fog-bound coast and the grey mantle of the sky, life does not flash up in a day to wither the next."

"The American climate, more than any other thing, produces mariners of energy and endurance. But the climate of England has produced a step forward in human evolution, the Temperate Man, who has achieved a balance between his rights as an individual and his obligations as a member of the community. He is the individual, as compared to that grotesque monster, the mass man. This slow-witted, obstinate Britisher, with the gleam of humor in his eye, who keeps the law but will tolerate no intrusion into his private affairs—he is the type of man who may save us from communism and its machine God."

WALTER S. THOMPSON APPOINTED PRESS CENSOR

When it was learned last week that Canada was to have a press censor, newspapermen in all parts of Canada instinctively said: "We hope it will be Walter Thompson."

Even before he made such an extraordinary success of press arrangements for the Royal Tour, Mr. Thompson was rightly called the dean of Canadian publicity men. His knowledge of newspapers and newspapermen is little short of fabulous.

Take for example the memorable day last May when the sixty or more correspondents on the Royal Pilot Train, as well as all the accredited members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery were "commanded" to meet the King and Queen at Rideau Hall. In all there were over one hundred people in the huge oval reception room.

When the King and Queen entered, the Royal Pilot Train, without the slightest hesitation to introduce each and every one in the room personally. He not only named each person, but gave the paper or publication house which they represented and, in most cases a brief word of "background" information in order to "ask the key."

Of an ordinary height, but of a staid, dignified, Walter Thompson can usually ride untroubled through any and every situation in which he finds himself. His creed is "co-operation." No matter how tough a spot he is in, he usually finds a way to reach a solution which leaves everyone happy or at least feeling they have been "given the breaks." There will be no ruthless, unprovoked clamping down on newspaper coverage in Canada if Walter Thompson has his way.

Having been a newspaperman himself for much of his business life, Walter Thompson has never forgotten that what a newsmen wants above everything else is "coverage." Day after day, night after night, on the Royal Tour, he spared no effort to give his pilot train correspondents and local newspapers the maximum possible coverage. Where local officials or members of the royal party would have been content merely to let newsmen scramble for news, as they were obliged, Mr. Thompson left no stone unturned to ensure that every one had the utmost opportunity to get his hand contact with the day's news. On one occasion he even made arrangements to charter a plane so as to facilitate better coverage in the Maritime provinces.

PREMIER KING'S ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE OF CANADA

For months, indeed for years, the shadow of impending conflict in Europe has been ever present. Through these troubled years, no stone has been left unturned, no real unexplored in the patient search for peace.

Unhappily for the world, Herr Hitler and the Nazi regime in Germany have persisted in their attempt to extend their power over other peoples and countries, and to pursue their aggressive policy in violation of the principles of the League of Nations and of all treaty obligations, and peaceful methods of adjusting international disputes. They have had resort to the grossest species of deception, terrorism and vengeance. It is this reliance upon force, this just for conquest, this determination to dominate throughout the world, which is the real cause of the war that today threatens the freedom of mankind.

The fate of a single city, the preservation of the independence of a particular nation are the occasion, not the real cause of the present conflict. The forces of evil have been loosed in the world in a struggle between the pagan conception of a social order which ignores the individual and is based upon the doctrine of might, and a civilization based upon the Christian conception of the brotherhood of man with its regard for the sanctity of contractual relations and the sacredness of human personality.

As President Roosevelt said on opening Congress on January 4:

"There comes a time in the affairs of men when they must prepare to defend not their homes alone, but the tenets of faith and humanity which their churches, their governments, and their very civilization are founded. The defense of religion, of democracy, and of good faith among nations is all the same fight. To save one, we must make up our minds to save all."

This, I believe, is the position in which all nations that cherish free institutions, individual liberty and social justice find themselves today. I need not review the events of the last few days. They must be present in the minds of all. Despite her unceasing efforts to preserve the peace of Europe, the United Kingdom has today, in the determination to honor her pledges and meet her great obligations, become involved in war.

In what manner shall we, as Canadians, may most effectively be able to cooperate in the common cause, as I have already stated, is something which Parliament itself will decide. All I need to add at the moment is that Canada, as a free nation of the British Commonwealth, bringing her cooperation voluntarily, our effort will be voluntary.

The people of Canada will, I know, face the days of stress and strain which lie ahead with calm and resolute courage. There is no home in Canada, no family, and no individual whose fortunes and freedom are not bound up in the present struggle. I appeal to my fellow Canadians to unite in a national effort to avert the danger of destruction all that makes life itself worth living, and to preserve for future generations those liberties and institutions which others have bequeathed to us.

every situation in which he finds himself. His creed is "co-operation." On one occasion he even made arrangements to charter a plane so as to facilitate better coverage in the Maritime provinces.

Born at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England in 1885, he was the son of a Scottish newspaper editor. He entered newspaper work on Fleet Street, and after serving on various London papers went abroad, working successively in South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and the South Sea Islands. His first "outside" job is said to have been an assignment at Queen Victoria's funeral for the London Times.

Coming to Canada in 1911 he became city editor of the old Montreal Witness and later filled the same position on the Montreal Herald.

In 1914, he was appointed press representative of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways, and when these lines were merged in the Canadian National Railways in 1922 he became director of publicity for that system.

His new job is to head a committee which will include representatives of the departments of National Defense, Transport, Post Office and the Secretary of State.

These four departments all have to do with one or another form of communication in peace or war. The Post Office Department is particularly concerned with the mails; Transport has jurisdiction over radio broadcasting and telegraph communication and the National Defense over cable and wireless communications between Canada and other countries and the Secretary of State has to do with telegrams.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science Churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is Psalm 73:26. One of the Scriptural citations is "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (1 John 2:16). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is "Mistaking his origin and nature, man believes himself to be combined matter and spirit. He believes that spirit is sifted through matter, carried on a nerve, exposed to ejection by the operation of matter. The intellectual, the moral, the spiritual—yes, the image of Infinite Mind—subject to non-existence! No more sympathy exists between the flesh and spirit than between Deity and man" (p. 171).

Cheadle

There has been quite an exodus of scholars from Cheadle. Among those attending the Cheadle Conference are: Irene Chamber, Leta Barber and Verna Barber, Ray Cramer and Raymond Torgerson.

What with listening to war news on the radio and watching a particularly dread rain out of doors today has been very depressing here. I looked out of another window and saw that Jack Frost had so far overlooked the flower garden, for which good deed we are truly thankful.

This photograph illustrates what the Alberta Junior Wheat Clubs, sponsored by the Alberta Wheat Pool, are accomplishing throughout the grain area of the Province.

The picture shows the Sharpe twins, Don and Dean, twenty-year-old sons of Mr and Mrs. W. R. Sharpe, of Munson, with their wheat plots.

District Agronomist, A. J. Charnaud, who inspected the plots recently, gave them 99 per cent marks—almost perfect farming.

The young farmers are members of the Drumheller Junior Wheat Club.

How will I hold myself
now I'll keep my stance
now at the frontier of common sense,
now I am faced about
to meet my chance?

Is it much easier
to hold on with one's fear,
to grip a rifle in the frightened air,
crumpled on the knees
to wait the word to fire?

Would it be better thus
with little more explained,
than where artillery is being trained
how to put on a mask
if gas is in the wind?

It would be simple surely,
here in all opinions,
to accept discipline in the battalions
safe in the company
of fearing millions?

How will I stand apart
now will I keep my stance
In the dark crisis of the present tense
when I am face to face
with every chance?

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. L. & G. Strange
Director "Crop Testing Plan"

Crop Testing Plan meetings, recently held at 24 different points over the Prairies, reveal that farmers are eagerly seeking advice about the variety of wheat to plant.

"Should we grow Thatcher, Remon, Apex or Regent," they ask, and are these rust-resistant sorts suitable for Alberta?

The advice given by the plant breeders was—Use only a rust resistant variety in the rust areas of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Any one of these varieties, either Thatcher, Remon, Apex or Regent will be found to be satisfactory. Naturally one of these varieties will eventually be found to be more suitable than the others in certain districts, but it will take several years of further testing by farmers themselves before this can accurately be determined.

In Alberta and parts of Western Saskatchewan, ordinarily out of the rust area, a farmer would have to use his own discretion, the authorities thought, but the farmer would be wise to consult with his Provincial Department of Agriculture or with his University.

One other piece of advice was given. If a farmer decides to use a rust-resistant variety he should certainly purchase some new seed each year for the reason that each year these new varieties are being improved by plant breeders and seed growers.

Edmonton Letter

By T. B. Windross

Edmonton, Sept. 14th.—The contribution that Alberta can and will make in Canada's part in the new Great War, on behalf of Great Britain and the empire, was being studied closely this week in Edmonton and in Ottawa.

The announcement of Canada's official declaration of war against Germany on Sunday put the province right into the war for its duration, and Britain is planning on a duration of at least three years if that time is necessary to blot out Hitler, the one man who has thrown the world into turmoil.

Hitler's own statement, made in his own newspaper at Munich last week, that the empire is the price that Hitler must pay for opposing him gave this province a very personal interest in helping to crush Hitlerism—the defence of Alberta itself as a free and democratic land.

Announcement by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the house of commons that there will be no conscription of manpower in Canada as long as his present administration lasts came as something of a surprise and even a disappointment, but it was understood generally that the dominion government has been informed by the imperial government at London just what help it requires from Canada, and that large forces of troops are not included among those requirements, for the present at least. Canada's chief contributions are to be economic—through supply of war materials and foodstuffs, and a force of air force men which may number 25,000, to be trained and equipped in Canada.

Home defence also will be a part of Canada's war duty. With millions of square miles and many thousand miles of coastline to protect.

Despite the lack of conscription, many hundreds of Alberta men enlisted in the arm units of the New Canadian Active Service force being mobilized for duty at home or abroad. By the end of the first week, enlistments in these units were approaching 2,000 men, and outside points had hardly been tapped. Requirements for recruits were strict, and many hundreds of applicants were refused admission to the army. It is expected that mobilization of the first force being raised in Alberta will be completed in the next ten days.

The Social Credit party's view on participation in the war has been awaited with interest for various reasons, among them being the fact that a party convention at Quebec in June had adopted, without protest from Hon. Lucien Maynard who was there to represent Premier William Aberhart, a resolution pledging this group against participation in any way "within or without" Canada and opposing the manufacture of arms and munitions for the dominion or any other country. It was wondered, too, whether the Alberta government would continue its policy of opposition to the federal government or offer its support and cooperation as did Premier Hepburn of Ontario.

Premier Aberhart, answered by calling for effective support of Britain in the emergency, and agreeing to the principle that all partisan bias between groups should be dropped.

He also issued a statement, in which he said was a summary of the position taken by federal Social Credit members and the provincial cabinet, suggesting that financing by the dominion (in exactly the way it is done, any way) and calling for an embargo on capital, with conscription of "undisclosed" reserves of institutions. The premier insisted that Edmonton newspapers print every word of this long statement when the house of commons met in Ottawa. Social Credit leader John Blackmore pledged the group's unwavering support to the federal government's actions for the best interests of the empire and called for control or conscription of finance and industry as well as manpower.

The CCF group declared that Canada's participation in war should be limited to economic assistance, and many conscription of manpower. In taking that position the CCF split from its national leader, J. S. Woodsworth, who, explaining that he spoke for himself alone, opposed any Canadian participation in the war in any way. Other developments arising out of the war included plans by the federal government for price control, prevention of profiteering and control of any phase of economic life which may need control. J. H. Tromblay, Liberal M.L.A. for Groulx, and a French-Canadian, was the first Alberta M.L.A. to enlist, and at the weekend was the only one. He signed up with the Edmonton regiment.

All other political parties retired from the West Calgary federal by-election which must be held Sept. 25 to fill the Hon. H. B. Bennett's vacant seat, giving Col. D. G. L. Cunningham, Conservative, a clear field in the national interest.

The provincial government, municipal governments, many school boards, provincial school teachers' pension commission, and many private firms made plans to protect the jobs and salaries for persons of conscription, who join Canada's fighting forces. And Canada harvested 450,000,000 bushels of wheat, fourth largest crop on record, in addition to 275,000 bushels of oats and 100,000,000 bushels of barley.

KEN CARPENTER—

Ken Carpenter, who spends most of his time in the Kraft Music Hall reading the commercials, might have been a great thespian had it not been for an unforeseen event. When he was 4 years old he organized his playmates into a show and began putting on phony and comedy sketches in his father's barn. During one of the sketches, however, the barn burned down and he never succeeded in getting the company together after that.

Mrs. Chas. Kimmett entertained the Women's Institute at her home last Friday. Current events were the topic of the meeting. To be brought before the provincial convention in October
 were discussed. Mrs. E. M. Stoodley was elected delegate to attend this convention in Edmonton next month.
 A delicious tea was served at the close of the meeting. Just before leaving, the ladies helped themselves to some of Mrs. Kimmett's lovely flowers.

DEATH OF MISS CULLEN

Nightingale lost one of her early setts in the death of Miss E. M. Cullen who passed away in Vancouver on Sunday, August 27. Funeral services were held on Thursday, at the Little Chapel in the corner in Calgary. Mrs.
 Gilbert of Strathmore conducted the service and interment followed in the Burnside Cemetery.

Miss Cullen was an active worker in the Red Cross society during the World War. Owing to ill health during recent years, she lived very quiet years home. Her delight was in the lovely flowers she raised each summer.
 She is survived by her brother, Chris,
 with whom she made her home, and two sisters, Mrs. Hollis of Kamloops,
 B. C., and Mrs. Reed of Swift Current, Sask. The sincere sympathy of the community goes to the bereaved family.

THE OTTAWA SPOTLIGHT

A Weekly Review of National Affairs
 (By Wilfrid Eggleston)

—122—

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—Canada's war policy can be forecast with confidence now that the Prime Minister has given to the House of Commons a complete statement. The main points are:—

1.—Canada will cooperate to the limit of her power and resources with Britain and France in the struggle
 now raging in Europe.

2.—The present Liberal administration will not introduce compulsory military service, believing that the interests of the country on balance are against such a move, and that under the circumstances voluntary effort will be more productive than a regu-mented system.

3.—Canada's contribution in the first stages of the war will consist of the training and sending of air force in taking over from the British fleet
 the protection of Canadian and adjacent shores, in the manufacture and dispatch of aircraft parts, in the production and forwarding of vast quantities of foodstuffs and munitions of war. No large scale expeditionary force is envisaged at the present time.

4.—Canada will participate to the full in the economic warfare against Germany by seeking to prevent the shipment of any goods to Germany or the purchase of German goods.

5.—A determined drive to prevent war profiteering will be made. In a message of great vigour, Prime Minister Mackenzie King branded those who would profit upon the misfortunes of humanity as "members of the underworld."

6.—The Premier promised Canada that political patronage for contracts would receive his own personal and determined denunciation. He undertook to abandon all political manoeuvring in pursuing the prosecution of the war.

TOWN COUNCIL

The Council dealt with a large number of items at its meeting on Tuesday, but most of them took only a fair amount of time. The Hockey Club was granted permission to move the east wall of the rink eight feet towards the roadway, and to add another entrance, as well as to make other improvements. It was decided that sidewalks were to be kept repaired as fast as they were found to need it. This means that there is quite a work program ahead. Pensions, relief, hospitalization, refrigeration, and other public works were all discussed, and it was made known

Little girls like to play with dolls,
 and so do some of their fathers.
